

Collaborated with Eastern Enterprise for their agile IT needs to increase traffic and the user base of their web application

ABOUT HOUSING ANYWHERE

HousingAnywhere is the international student housing platform for exchange, internship, volunteer, or working students alike. It is a global platform that brings together demand and supply of short stay student housing. HousingAnywhere originally started as a platform where outgoing exchange students could rent their rooms out when they go abroad and incoming exchange students could remotely find availability. The main aim of the company was to increase the current housing options and help more international students with their housing needs.

PROJECT CHALLENGE

The client's website required lot of continuous support for bringing new users on board. They were also facing tough competition in several countries outside of the Netherlands and wanted to increase their user base. They approached Eastern Enterprise as a partner who could speak the language of startups and take them to the next level.

OUR SOLUTION

To ensure there was a common understanding of the project goals, we began by sitting with the project owner and listening to their pain points and goals.

We suggested a few tweaks and fixed their problems in no time. We also setup a team of 3 resources to track the users’ postings and directly messaged them to bring them on onboard.
